

Questions

Questions

Are you the teacher?

Do you like Mondays?

Where is the railway station?

When can we have dinner?

Questions

Principles

To ask a question we have to paraphrase with to do.

Do you like Mondays?*

Exceptions

1. The predicate is a form of to be.

Are you the teacher?*

2. The use of another auxiliary or modal verb is required.

Can I come with you?*

Would you like some coffee?*

Should I ask her?*

3. The interrogative pronoun (who/what) asks for the subject.

Who drives the bus? (answer: the bus driver)

What looks beautiful? (answer: the weather)

Questions

Marie lives in Siegburg.

Ask the “yes/no”-question

Does Marie live in Siegburg?

Ask the “who”-question

Who lives in Siegburg?

Ask the “where”-question

Where does Marie live?.

Christine went to Rome.

Ask the “yes/no”-question

Did Christine go to Rome?

Ask the “who”-question

Who went to Rome?

Ask the “where”-question

Where did Christine go?

We will see them tomorrow.

Ask the “yes/no”-question

Will we see them tomorrow?

Ask the “who”-question

Who will see them tomorrow?

Ask the “when”-question

When will we see them?