Negations - questions

Principles

To negate a sentence or to ask a question we have to paraphrase with to do.

Exceptions

I don't like Mondays.

Do you/does she like Mondays?

1. The predicate is a form of to be.

I am not the teacher.

Are you the teacher?

2. The sentence uses another auxiliary or modal verb.

I cannot come with you.

Can I come with you?

3. The interrogative pronoun (who/what) asks for the subject.

Who drives the bus? (answer: the bus driver)

What looks beautiful? (answer: the weather)
