Conjunctions

Conjunctions are words that join phrases, clauses, or words within a sentence.

There are three main types of conjunctions: coordinating, correlative, and subordinating.

Coordinating conjunctions, often represented by the acronym FANBOYS (for, and, nor, but, or, yet, and so), connect words, phrases, or independent clauses of equal grammatical importance in a sentence.

Correlative conjunctions operate in pairs - such as either/or and neither/nor - framing grammatically equivalent elements in order to connect clauses that together form a complete thought.

Subordinating conjunctions, including although, because, that, and while, connect a dependent clause to the independent clause of a sentence, indicating a specific logical relationship between the two.
